APPEARANCES

SYNOPSIS

The Applicant is a native born American citizen. Her foreign connections are not such as to cause her to be vulnerable to exploitation or pressure. She travels with her husband for pleasure to Taiwan and the People's Republic of China, in order for her husband to compete in athletic competitions. She has neither relatives nor friends in either country. Under these circumstances, her travel does not have security significance. Adverse inference is overcome. Clearance is granted.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

On March 10, 2004, the Defense Office of Hearings and Appeals (DOHA), pursuant to Executive Order 10865 (as amended) and Department of Defense Directive 5220.6 (Directive), dated January 2, 1992, issued a Statement of Reasons (SOR) to the Applicant, which detailed reasons why DOHA could not make the preliminary affirmative finding under the Directive that it is clearly consistent with the national interest to grant or continue a security clearance for the Applicant and recommended referral to an Administrative Judge to determine whether a clearance should be denied or revoked.

The Applicant responded to the SOR in writing on April 8, 2004, and requested that the Decision be made without a hearing. The Department Counsel submitted the File of Relevant Material (FORM) to the Applicant on June 22, 2004. The Applicant was given 30 days after receipt of the FORM to submit any additional information to the Administrative Judge. The Applicant acknowledged receipt the FORM on June 29, 2004, and elected not to submit any additional information. The case was received by the undersigned for Decision on August 1, 2004.

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Applicant is 59, married and has a Master of Science degree. She is employed by a defense contractor as Principal Quality Engineer, and she seeks to obtain a DoD security clearance in connection with her employment in the defense sector.

The Government opposes the Applicant's request for a security clearance, based upon the allegations set forth in the Statement of Reasons (SOR). The following findings of fact are entered as to each paragraph and guideline in the SOR. They are based on the Applicant's Answer to the SOR, the exhibits and the live testimony.

Paragraph 1 (Guideline B - Foreign Influence). The Government alleges in this paragraph that the Applicant is ineligible for decision because she has contacts or connections with a foreign country that may make her vulnerable to coercion, exploitation or pressure.

The Applicant is a native born American citizen of Chinese ancestry. Her husband is a naturalized American citizen who was born in the People's Republic of China. Her mother is a citizen of Taiwan, who is a permanent resident of the United States, and resides here. Her father-in-law is now deceased. He was a citizen of the People's Republic of China, a permanent resident of the United States, and resided here before his death. There is no evidence that any relative of the Applicant or her husband currently lives in the People's Republic of China or Taiwan.

The Applicant's husband is an amateur basketball player. He belongs to an Chinese-American amateur athletic association that plays games in international tournaments. These tournaments have been held in Taiwan and the People's Republic of China. The Applicant travels with her husband to attend these basketball tournaments. When she travels to Taiwan or the People's Republic of China, she is acting as a tourist. The Applicant does not discuss her job, nor has she ever been approached about her job in either Taiwan or the People's Republic of China. (See Government Exhibit 5.)

POLICIES

Security clearance decisions are not made in a vacuum. Accordingly, the Department of Defense, in Enclosure 2 of the 1992 Directive, has set forth policy factors which must be given "binding" consideration in making security clearance determinations. These factors should be followed in every case according to the pertinent guideline. However, the factors are neither automatically determinative of the decision in any case, nor can they supersede the Administrative Judge's reliance on his own common sense, as well as his knowledge of the law, human nature and the ways of the world, in making a reasoned decision. Because each security clearance case presents its own unique facts and circumstances, it cannot be assumed that these factors exhaust the realm of human experience, or apply equally in every case. Based on the Findings of Fact set forth above, the factors most applicable to the evaluation of this case are:

Guideline B (Foreign influence)

Condition that could raise a security concern:

(1) An immediate family member, or a person to whom the individual has close ties of affection or obligation, is a citizen of, or resident or present in, a foreign country;

Condition that could mitigate security concerns include:

(1) A determination that the immediate family member(s), (spouse, father, mother, sons, daughters, brothers, sisters), cohabitant, or associate(s) in question are not agents of a foreign power or in a position to be exploited by a foreign power in a way that could force the individual to choose between loyalty to the person(s) involved and the United States;

In addition, as set forth in Enclosure 2 of the Directive at pages 16-17, "In evaluating the relevance of an individual's conduct, the [Administrative Judge] should consider the following factors [General Factors]:

- a. The nature, extent and seriousness of the conduct
- b. The circumstances surrounding the conduct, to include knowledgeable participation
- c. The frequency and recency of the conduct
- d. The individual's age and maturity at the time of the conduct

- e. The voluntariness of participation
- f. The presence or absence of rehabilitation and other pertinent behavior changes
- g. The motivation for the conduct
- h. The potential for pressure, coercion, exploitation or duress
- i. The likelihood of continuation or recurrence."

The eligibility guidelines established in the DoD Directive identify personal characteristics and conduct which are reasonably related to the ultimate question of whether it is "clearly consistent with the national interest" to grant an Applicant's request for access to classified information.

In the defense industry, the security of classified industrial secrets is entrusted to civilian workers who must be counted upon to safeguard such sensitive information twenty-four hours a day. The Government is therefore appropriately concerned where available information indicates that an Applicant for clearance may have foreign connections that make the Applicant vulnerable to coercion, or pressure.

The DoD Directive states, "Each adjudication is to be an overall common sense determination based upon consideration and assessment of all available information, both favorable and unfavorable, with particular emphasis placed on the seriousness, recency, frequency, and motivation for the individual's conduct; the extent to which conduct was negligent, willful, voluntary, or undertaken with the knowledge of the circumstances or consequences involved; and, to the extent that it can be estimated, the probability that conduct will or will not continue in the future." The Administrative Judge can only draw those inferences or conclusions that have a reasonable and logical basis in the evidence of record. The Judge cannot draw inferences or conclusions based on evidence which is speculative or conjectural in nature. Finally, as emphasized by President Eisenhower in Executive Order 10865, "Any determination under this order...shall be a determination in terms of the national interest and shall in no sense be a determination as to the loyalty of the applicant concerned."

CONCLUSIONS

It is the Government's responsibility to present substantial evidence to support the finding of a nexus, or rational connection, between the Applicant's conduct and the granting of a security clearance. If such a case has been established, the burden then shifts to the Applicant to go forward with evidence in rebuttal, explanation or mitigation which is sufficient to overcome or outweigh the Government's case. The Applicant bears the ultimate burden of persuasion in proving that it is clearly consistent with the national interest to grant him or her a security clearance.

In this case the Government has met its initial burden of proving by substantial evidence that the Applicant's mother is a citizen of Taiwan, living in the United States; and that she travels with her husband to Taiwan and the People's Republic of China for him to engage in sporting events (Guideline B).

The Applicant, on the other hand, has successfully mitigated the Government's case. The Applicant's mother is 80 years old, and lives in the United States as a permanent resident. Any concerns about her foreign citizenship are vitiated by her age and her presence in the United States.

The Applicant travels to Taiwan and the People's Republic of China solely for pleasure and solely in connection with her husband's sporting events. She has no relatives or friends in either country. Under the particular circumstances of this case, travel to these two countries for these types of activities is insufficient to show that she is subject to foreign influence. Guideline B is found for the Applicant.

On balance, it is concluded that the Applicant has successfully overcome the Government's case opposing her request for a DoD security clearance. Accordingly, the evidence supports a finding for the Applicant as to the factual and conclusionary allegations expressed in Paragraph 1 of the Government's Statement of Reasons.

FORMAL FINDINGS

Formal findings For or Against the Applicant on the allegations in the SOR, as required by Paragraph 25 of Enclosure 3 of the Directive, are:

Paragraph 1: For the Applicant.

Subparagraphs 1.a. through 1.d.: For the Applicant.

DECISION

In light of all the circumstances presented by the record in this case, it is clearly consistent with the national interest to grant or continue a security clearance for the Applicant.
